

Prix de Lausanne ballet competition

Since 2007, Adveq has been a key sponsor of the Prix de Lausanne, an international dance competition that aims to discover and promote exceptional young talents from around the world. It is supported by the world's finest ballet schools and ballet companies which open their doors to the prize winners who are also awarded grants. Adveq donates a ballet scholarship for a young dancer at the competition every year.

The Prix de Lausanne has become a world-renowned institution and is also a top-level annual meeting point for the international dance world. The Prix de Lausanne is a not-for-profit cultural foundation. With the exception of the secretariat's permanent staff, everyone involved gives their time and experience on a voluntary basis. The meritocratic and global approach of the Prix de Lausanne is highly congruent with Adveq's own business philosophy.

2012 competition

Adveq – partner for private market investing.